

Doug Maynard, MOM

President

Lions Gate Risk Management Group

Doug Maynard is the President of Lions Gate Risk Management Group and possesses extensive experience in policing at local, provincial, national and international levels. With thirty-two years of experience across all business lines in policing he was exposed to a multitude of situations and environments. At the time of his recent retirement from the RCMP, he was the Superintendent in Charge of all Tactical Assets in the Province of British Columbia, including Emergency Response, Public Order, Dive Teams, Negotiators, and Bomb Disposal. Doug was also responsible for developing a series of exercises designed to test and affirm the response mechanism to a terrorist attack across multiple locations for not only police, but also government and other related agencies. This resulted in policy change and the adoption of Gold/Silver/Bronze as the method of Crisis Management for the RCMP. Doug was also one of the main architects of the RCMP's response to "Resource based, Culturally sensitive Protests" in British Columbia. Given this experience, he is well placed to speak to the challenges involved in developing effective responses that work hand in hand with Law Enforcement and contracted parties in relation to lawful and unlawful protest activities that may affect major projects or resource based infrastructure.
