

W. Scott Raesler, CD, Dip, BA, MA

President

3Si Risk Strategies Inc.

Scott is the President of 3Si Risk Strategies Inc. and a licensed Security Consultant who has provided security and emergency management consulting services for 16 years. Prior to this, Scott served for 15 years in the Canadian Army, including two operational deployments in the Balkans and later went on to work as a Security Advisor and Manager with four different United Nations Agencies, as well as two different Humanitarian Relief organizations in Eastern Europe, North Africa, Latin America and Central Asia. He also managed security information and operation networks for the United Nations in Kosovo, Afghanistan and the Middle East. Since moving to the private sector in 2007, establishing and implementing intelligence led risk management and security awareness programs have been the focal points of Scott's endeavours. His expertise resides in his ability to lead organizations through complicated inter-agency threat and risk mitigation processes.

In addition to his extensive knowledge and experience in these fields, Scott is also a very experienced trainer and facilitator in the areas of violence in the workplace, personal security and hostage incident prevention as well as leadership and incident management.
