

Shannon Neufeld

Technical Leader, Damage Prevention National Energy Board (NEB)

Shannon Neufeld has over 22 years of Damage Prevention experience, developing damage prevention programs for both the natural gas and electric energy sectors and participating on damage prevention committees and taskforces across Canada. Since 2013, Shannon has been the Technical Leader of Damage Prevention at the National Energy Board, leading the modernization of the damage prevention regulations for federally regulated pipelines in Canada.

Within the damage prevention community of practice, Shannon represents the regulator stakeholder group on the Board of Directors for the Alberta Common Ground Alliance and British Columbia Common Ground Alliance, and proudly serves on the Canadian Common Ground Alliance Board of Directors, for which the NEB is the Federal Regulatory Champion.
